City Wants to Hear from Bicyclists

Just what do you think about riding a bike in San Antonio? The City wants to know.

A new, online survey is asking just that.

“We’re asking people about why do they bike” said the City’s Terry Bellamy in describing the survey—which can be found at www.satomorrow.com/survey (<http://www.ktsa.com/wp-admin/www.satomorrow.com/survey>)

“We’re also asking about our goal of zero traffic fatalities—and how we can use our bike program to also educate cyclists and motorists about the rules of the road” Ballamy said in describing the survey.

The survey will be up through November 20th.
